Standard softwares

If your favorite client software is eM Client, KDE Kontact, KMail, Mozilla Thunderbird or Windows Mail, you can set it up simply by choosing to add a new account. After entering your full email address and password, your software will use the automatic configuration issued by Hosterra Email.

> Some Microsoft applications ask for additional server type information. If this is the case, select "Exchange Server".

> If automatic configuration doesn't work, you can still configure it manually to take advantage of all Hosterra Email's features.
